

GIRL KILLED WHEN AUTO CRASHES INTO IRON POLE

Returning from a dance at Wells Beach early Sunday morning, a large touring car with 10 occupants crashed into an iron electric light pole in Central square, Sanford, killing a girl and injuring eight young men and women, two seriously.

The dead: Miss Henedine A. Allaire, 10, daughter of Mrs. Isole Allaire, 30 Brook street, Sanford.

The seriously injured: Miss Rosanna Gouin, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Gouin of 37 Brook street; kneecap smashed and internal injuries.

Charles Beaure, 25, son of Mrs. Odella Beaure of 15 Riverside avenue; broken leg, shoulder injured and internal injuries.

The less seriously hurt are: Peter Perry, 20, son of Fred Perry of 31 Lebanon street; Ida Hartley, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hartley, 5 Bates street; Elsie Heaton, 21, daughter of Alfred Heaton, 31 Minerva avenue; Nelda Gilbault, 19, and Florida Gilbault, 16, daughters of Mrs. Malvina Gilbault of State street and Vernon C. Bodwell, owner and driver of the car. The 10th member of the party, a Biddeford young man, whose name was not learned, escaped with torn clothing.

The Bodwell car and another with a Massachusetts register plate came into the square together and Bodwell, in swerving out of the way of the other auto, apparently swung over too sharply and crashed with great force into the pole.

Member of the party say that both cars were going at a fast rate of speed when they arrived in Central square. The Massachusetts driver did not stop when the accident occurred and continued on through Springvale.

According to patrolman Atwood D. Allen, the car was going 60 miles an hour when it passed through that village. The police are endeavoring to locate the driver of this car, who, some claimed, lived in Springfield, Mass.

The crash was heard several blocks away and the square quickly filled with people. The occupants of the car were thrown in all directions, some were pinned beneath the auto and the Allaire girl was thrown several feet into the air against the iron pole. She sustained a fractured skull, which caused her death about two hours later.

Every physician in Sanford and Springvale was called. Dr. W. J. Kelley was the first at the scene, and securing two autos, rushed the injured to the Ross hospital. The small car was demolished.

Miss Allaire was born in Canada and had lived in Sanford 11 years. She was employed in the Sanford mills. She is survived, beside a mother, by five brothers and five sisters. Funeral services will be at St. Ignatius' Catholic church Tuesday morning.

AS MANAGER.

John A. Libby to Take Charge of Ames Store in Saco.

A change has been made in the management of the S. K. Ames store in Saco Rufus Doe, who has had charge for a number of years, has accepted a permanent appointment as clerk in the Saco post office and started in on his regular duties Monday morning.

G. A. Johnson of Boston has come down to take charge of the store for a week, after which John A. Libby, the well known Saco grocer, will assume charge. Mr. Libby's many friends in Saco are all well pleased that he has secured this important position, and he is sure to continue the popularity of the Ames store in Saco.

The Biddeford public schools began their new school year Monday morning with a good attendance in all the schools. The total registration at the High school is 183. There is a large entering class, but a small senior class.

There is a probability that the hours for the High school will be changed so that the opening will be at 7:40 and the closing at 12. Principal Gerry has received a number of requests that the hours be changed and Supt. Allen expresses himself in favor of the proposed change.

VICTIMS OF INFLUENZA.

About a week ago Lewis Polakewich of Biddeford and J. Hollis Northcutt who were on the waiting list were inducted into duty at Camp Devens with the understanding that they were to be transferred back to Saco in a few days to serve as secretaries to the Exemption board in Saco in the arduous duties connected with the 18-45 registration. The last of the week Capt. William E. Loring of Augusta was ordered to proceed to Camp Devens and return with Polakewich and Northcutt to Saco. He did so, but until they and himself had contracted the Spanish influenza which is prevalent at Camp Devens. Capt. Loring is confined in a hospital at Augusta and Northcutt is at the Colver and Polakewich is at the "rull" It was reported Monday that Polakewich and Northcutt were highly feverish.

JOINT RAIDED

Chief of Police Thomas Stone walked in on a nest of gamblers at 67 Main street about 8 o'clock Sunday night and arrested the keeper and six men who were seated at a table playing cards. The men were taken to the police station. The keeper gave his name as Bill Dantos and the others, who were booked for gambling, gave names as follows: Petros Mruas, Peter Dracoulacos, John Goris, Arfenis Doukakos, Joseph Euanidas and Spiro Coutonis. The seven were bailed out until Monday morning before Bail Commissioner Robert B. Seidel.

The men were given a hearing before Recorder F. P. Harris in police court Monday morning. Chief Stone appearing for the State and Robert B. Seidel for the respondents. They were found guilty, the keeper being fined $50 and costs and the others $5 and costs. All paid.

SAVE PEACH STONES

Orono, Sept. 16—As a counterblast against German poison gas attacks on the fields of France the Food Administration is issuing a call to housewives, grocers, canners and proprietors of hotels and restaurants to aid in the collection of fruit pits and nut shells from which to make carbon for the millions of gas masks needed by the American Army.

Many patriotic Maine merchants are cooperating in this campaign to save fruit pits and have provided means for the collection of the material in their stores. Many novel schemes are being worked out and there is every indication that Maine's quota of fruit pits will be liberally over-subscribed.

All pits and shells saved should be dried and turned into the nearest Red Cross organization or to such receiving stations as may be designated. The Red Cross will arrange for their shipment to central points. Grocers have been asked by the Food Administration to provide receptacles in their stores, into which pits and shells can be dropped, and to urge that their patrons save every seed faithfully.

Canners have been requested, through the Federal Food Administrators of the states, to save all pits. Pits, seeds and shells should be thoroughly cleaned and dried in the sun or in ovens before being turned in. Only those named are of use, no others should be put into the receptacles, because time and labor must not be wasted in sorting.

Hotels and restaurants have been asked to save pits and to aid in giving publicity to the campaign. Housewives putting up fruit for the Winter should lay aside their fruit stones for collection by Boy Scout, Girl Scouts or other organizations that are enlisted for the campaign. Boys and girls are asked to scour the woods for hickory nuts and butternuts. It is urged by the Food Administration that their meats be extracted for use as food before they are turned in. No attempt need be made to extract the kernels of fruit pits.

"A Few Peach Stones May Save A Soldier's Life" is the caption the Food Administration is recommending for signs to be placed over receptacles for collections at original points. These may be in schools, churches, banks or department stores, as well as in places where food is sold.

JAIKEY AT COTE'S.

Deputy Sheriffs Seize a Quart Three Saturday.

Deputy Sheriffs Henry A. Berube and Forrest G. Spofford seized a quart of Jamaica ginger at O. J. Cote's drug store on Elm street at Smith's corner Saturday afternoon. The case came up in police court Monday morning and was continued for 10 days for a hearing.

VETERANS ENTERTAINED.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Milliken of Old Orchard entertained the members of Fred S. Gurney post, Grand Army of the Republic, Horace H. Burbank camp, Sons of Veterans and Fred S. Gurney Relief corps at their home, the Revere house, Saturday afternoon and evening. A fish chowder was served about 5:30 with all the fixings, also cake, pie and fruit. The after-dinner speaking was dispensed with—everybody doing their own talking.

The men adjourned to the spacious veranda and indulged in cigars. The ladies gathered in the parlor and partook of wicker music, singing and a general good time followed until late in the evening.

This is an annual event with Mr. and Mrs. Milliken. There were fully a hundred present, who partook of their hospitality. On leaving for home the party gave the host and hostess three hearty cheers.

ONE DOCTOR HAS THREE CASES.

Several cases of Spanish influenza in addition to those reported in Monday's Record have been discovered in Biddeford and it is the opinion of physicians with whom a reporter for this paper talked Tuesday that there is likely to be quite a spread of the disease. Thus far no deaths have occurred and in most instances the disease has appeared in a mild form.

The cases reported by The Record, Monday were those of Lewis Polakewich of this city and J. Hollis Northcutt, the former being a patient at the Trull hospital and the latter at the Webber. Both are in the service and contracted the disease at Camp Devens. Both were reported to be quite comfortable Tuesday.

The Record reporter inquired of one physician how many Spanish influenza patients he had and he replied that he had three. One of the number is a victim of pneumonia and the others are only "comfortably sick."

The following "don'ts" are given to be followed if you wish to avoid the disease: Don't get into crowds any more than you can possibly help. Don't let another person sneeze or cough in your direction without protecting your mouth or nostrils. Don't act as if you did not care, when in the company of others who you know have the grip.

Don't fall to gargle your throat at least once a day; especially after being in a congested street car or crowded room. Don't neglect a cold however slight it may be, if it gets worse call a doctor.

PRIVATE YORK OF WELLS DEAD.

Ayer, Mass., Sept. 17—The deaths of three Maine privates at the base hospital at Camp Devens were announced Monday night. They were Earle E. York, Wells Beach; Mellen Adams, Belgrade, and George Sprague, Harrington.

MORRILL TO HEAD DRIVE.

Agent Ernest L. Morrill of the Pepperell company will head the committee for Biddeford in the fourth Liberty Loan campaign which is to be inaugurated Saturday, Sept. 28 and will continue for three weeks. The appointment was made by the Federal Reserve bank in Boston and was announced Tuesday.

The chairman for York county is Walter J. Gilpatrick of Saco, who conducted the second and third Liberty Loan campaigns with marked success, the county in each instance exceeding its quota in handsome fashion. It is the purpose to make the forthcoming campaign in the county a 100 per cent one, and Biddeford can be rolled upon, as in the past, to do her full patriotic duty and furnish her full share in sending York county "over the top."

The appointment of Agent Morrill as Biddeford's chairman is an excellent and eminently fitting one, and under his direction the campaign is certain to be conducted in a business-like fashion, with the assurance that Biddeford's quota, whatever it may be, will be raised. Agent Morrill's chairman assistants will be announced in a few days.

The dollar-a-week payments will be adopted for the campaign, and it is expected that every bank in the two cities will accept a dollar a week in payment of bonds.

TO ASSIST DRAFTS.

In response to a call issued by Judge George L. Emery, chairman for Biddeford and Saco, a meeting of the Legal Advisory board of District 1, York county, was held Monday afternoon at the common council chamber, City building in this city.

The purpose of the meeting was to make arrangements for the work of filling out the questionnaires for draft coming under the next draft, for which registration was held on Thursday of last week, and to secure volunteers to assist the lawyers in this work.

Heretofore this work has been done entirely by lawyers, who gave their services in assisting draftees in making out their questionnaires. The work was carried on by the lawyers at their offices and it was so exacting that many of the lawyers were compelled to neglect their own business in order to perform the duties they had voluntarily assumed.

So that the lawyers may not be closely confined in making out the questionnaires, as has been the case, different plans were considered desirable, and it was to formulate such plans that Monday's meeting was held.

Instead of the draftees calling at the offices of lawyers to fill out their questionnaires, the work will be done at the common council chamber for Biddeford draftees. It is planned to have three lawyers, with assistants, on duty each week day from 9 to 12 in the forenoon, 2 to 5 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 in evening. The work will be so arranged that every lawyer in the city will be engaged in the work, three giving their services on one day, for instance, and three others being on duty the following day, and so on. The matter will be so arranged that each lawyer will know on which days he is to serve and will be enabled to arrange his own business accordingly.

Volunteers will be required to assist the lawyers and look after the clerical work and a call is made for young ladies who will give their services.

The members of the Legal Advisory board in Saco will make plans for carrying on the work in that city, and it is probable that plans similar to those in this city will be adopted.

CHARGE IN PLUG HATS.

New York, Sept. 17—Dressed in B. V. D's, with silk hats fastened over their tin helmets and a few lucky ones carrying parasols of all hues and materials, members of a certain regiment made up principally of Irish-Americans went over the top at Chateau-Thierry, according to a word-picture of the American victory brought back from the front by Frances B. Sayre, President Wilson's son-in-law. Naturally the parasols were discarded before the advancing Yankees came to grips with the Hun, but the plug hats went forward to final victory.

Plug hats, fancy parasols and other such attire are not a part of an American soldier's make-up, but it so happened that several days before the battle this Irish-American regiment captured large quantities of booty which had been gathered up by the Hun. It was this find which made possible the advance in glad attire.

"It was a hot day in more ways than one," explained Sayre, who had recently returned from an inspection of "Y" huts in Italy, in describing the charge of the plug hat brigade. Many of the exuberant soldiers pulled off their O. D. shirts before they started the charge.

"Out of the trenches they poured, in B. V. D's, silk hats and a few other things. A few lucky ones carried parasols of all hues and materials. These, naturally, they discarded before they came to grips with the Hun. One cannot well jab a bayonet full length into a foe, if the owner of the steel is endeavoring to keep above his head a silk and lace sunshade."

"The Americans are all mad," a German prisoner taken during this rush is reported as telling his captor. "They charged our machine gun nest yelling like fiends. At first we could see only their heads. Everyone had a silk hat instead of a tin helmet. It looked like an opera night in Munich. But they ought like madmen, too."

It was at Chateau-Thierry that Mr. Sayre had his real intuition of work at the front. With Maude Radford Warren, the writer, and several others, Mr. Sayre had gone to the town to join the Y. M. C. A. staff of one of the units fighting on the line near that part of the Marne.

RECEIVES BLOW ON ARM.

A H. Milliken of The Record staff was slightly injured Monday afternoon while returning from the open fair held at the Deering farm. Hollis Center on that day sitting in the seat beside the auto driver he received the full shock of a cord wood stick on his right arm near the elbow, causing a most painful bruise, though luckily breaking no bones.

It seems the driver had noticed a cord wood stick lying across the road and in turning to one side to avoid hitting it had driven the car over the heavily scarred end at the precise angle to cause the stick to fly up and smash Mr. Milliken on the arm.

Upon arrival in town Dr. Thompson was consulted and it was found while no bones had been broken it would take a week or so to restore the arm to its former usefulness.

WHERE DID YOU GET FACTS?

"Where did you get your facts?" was the question which E. M. Waterhouse asked the audiences at the Biddeford theatres in a four-minute speech delivered there Friday night, speaking as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I ask your careful attention for four minutes to a matter which our Government has deputized me to bring before you. Did you know that there is a German army on United States soil? This is the grand lie army, working under the Father of Lies, spreading lies, rumors and destructive falsehoods of every description, trivial and great, at critical moments preferably hoping to embarrass our conduct of the war. Here is an example.

"Last Summer in Pittsburgh a German told me two days before the draft that a traveling man just over from New York said that the English fleet had been destroyed, but the Government was keeping the news till after the draft was over. This was a lie, of course. After these many months a new lie cropped up and after it has run its twisted and distorting course is scotched, but in the meantime more or less damage has been done. But you are all familiar with these, such as the group of Red Cross lies, the poison, disease germs and glass in food, the supposed irregularities in conduct of war and relief organizations, immorality and disease in the army, disloyalty and desertions of troops on either side as the Hun policy dictates, savings bank deposits requisitioned, the same for home canned goods, as to the nature of the war being for the rich man, a form of class dissension, similarly preferences in the army shown for reasons of race or creed, slanders against our allies such as England with seven and one-half million troops in the field, 70 per cent of which come from the tight little island of Ireland, said to be letting the French bear the burden of the war. Lies, lies, all lies.

"Where do they come from? Some from our own people who have given somebody a loose word to swing, some from religious mania or hobbies, but mostly from our bitter, unscrupulous enemies here who lack absolute sense of fair play. They are still rous.

"But most important of all stop it. We can. To everybody who spreads a rumor the least disturbing, say these six words: 'Where did you get your facts?' Then run it down and tell the Public Safety committee. They will act at once. Remember how the medieval saint exorcised the devil with six words, 'In the name of God depart.' So we can drive this devil of hateful falsehood that threatens our homes, lives and Nation with six words. Remember them and use them: 'Where did you get your facts?'

BRAVE IN ILLNESS.

Carleton T. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton T. Moore, died at his home, 51 Mason street, Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock after an illness extending over a period of six years. His condition for quite a long time has been such as to lead the members of his family and intimate friends to realize that the end was not far distant, but there was nothing as late as Monday night to indicate the near approach of death. He spent the early part of the evening in conversation with members of the family and was in good spirits and apparently as well as he had been for some time recently. Shortly before 4 o'clock Tuesday morning he experienced a sudden turn and his parents were summoned to his bedside. He quickly passed into a state of coma and soon passed away. His death was entirely peaceful, and his life closed like one sinking into a refreshing, restful sleep.

Mr. Moore's long illness was marked by one of the most remarkable examples of patience that had ever come to the notice of those acquainted with his condition. During these six years he had suffered greatly at times and he realized that the nature of his illness afforded no hope for recovery, but in spite of this he was always brave and cheerful, looking only on the bright side of life and ever endeavoring by cheerful words to encourage and comfort those around him and who were naturally heavy hearted by reason of the illness that had come upon him as a burden. He was never known to utter an impatient or complaining word, but approached the end with a cheerfulness of spirit that was remarkable.

Carleton Thomas Moore was born in Biddeford Aug. 14, 1885, and attended the public schools of the city, being graduated from the High school in the class of 1905. His natural inclinations led him to adopt civil engineering as his life work and completing his study for this chosen occupation he spent between two and three years as assistant to Roland W. Libby, civil engineer of Saco. Later he was engaged in road work in New Hampshire and after this, when his health became somewhat impaired he entered the insurance office of his father as an assistant. His health finally became undermined to such an extent that it was considered advisable that he should receive treatment at a sanatorium, and he went to the institution at Parsonsfield, where he remained for several months and then returned to Biddeford, having derived considerable benefit from the treatment. The disease, however, had gained a lasting hold on his system and a number of months ago his condition became very serious and he afterwards failed gradually.

Mr. Moore was well liked by those who knew him. He was an interesting companion, a pleasing associate and his qualities of mind and heart endeared him to those fortunate enough to count him among their intimate friends. Although it has been known that his death was the question of a short time only, his passing brings a sense of keen sorrow to his friends and a heavy blow to his parents and other members of the family.

Besides the father and mother, he leaves three brothers and a sister. They are Byron N. Moore of Tampa, Fla., Robert M. Moore who is in the United States service being stationed in Texas, Mrs. L. E. Willard of Saco and Roger Moore of this city.

The arrangements for the funeral had not been completed Tuesday afternoon and notice of it will be given later.

MANY TRIBUTES.

The funeral of Deputy Sheriff Herbert Smith was held from his home in Dayton Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. There was a very large attendance, and among those present were many from Biddeford and Saco, including Deputy Sheriffs Henry A. Berube, Charles E. Clark and Forrest G. Spofford, Probation Officer Daniel S. Hamilton, Deputy Sheriff Abner F. Chick of Kennebunkport and Former Deputy Sheriff Granville H. Murphy of Saco.

The officiating clergyman was Rev. F. A. Sullivan of Goodwins Mills and there was singing by a quartet composed of Charles Chadbourn, F. A. Lord and E. M. Waterhouse of Saco and Roscoe D. Fairfield of Biddeford. The burial was at Clark Mills and among the pallbearers were Sheriff Haven A. Roberts at Saco and Former Deputy Sheriff Granville H. Murphy of Saco.

The floral tributes were of the most beautiful description and very large in number. These included magnificent pieces from Sheriff Roberts and the members of his official family, besides pieces from personal friends in Biddeford and Saco. Two autos were required to convey the tributes from friends in the two cities.

LEBANON.

Fifteen from the North Lebanon Baptist church attended the North York United Baptist association at Springvale last Tuesday evening and report a very interesting and inspiring meeting.

Wednesday evening of this week Rev. C. C. Koch of Springvale will preach at the North Lebanon church. It is hoped that all who can will attend the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Wentworth went to Kittery Sunday.

The Woman's Missionary society will hold its monthly meeting with Mrs. Harry Mason Thursday afternoon. The Mission Band will meet with Mrs. Gammon at the parsonage Saturday afternoon.

Miss Hazel Frame, who has been spending the past few weeks with Mrs. Harriet Butler, has returned home.

Raymond J. Ricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ricker and Miss Eva Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Goodwin, were united in marriage Monday evening, Sept. 16 at the North Lebanon parsonage by Rev. D. A. Gammon.

Dutiful.

Our idea of a dutiful daughter crystallized into definite form yesterday when we saw a blooming young matron of this neighborhood stand by with an air of quiet resignation and exemplary patience while her mother did undoubtedly kindly intended things to the baby.—Columbus (O.) Journal.

Robins Are Gluttons.

On an average day food is brought to the robin's nest every 15 minutes. Each young robin requires daily two or three times its weight in bugs and worms. When food is offered these over-hungry little creatures open their large yellow mouths wide and justle each other.
